BY CARRANZA MESSAGE

Washington, June 1.-American del- | to be landed at Tampico and Mata egates to the Mexican mediation conference at Niagara Falls were in frequent communication today with the Washington government. It was declared in official quarters that the burden of the inter-communication related to the hitch in the progress of negotiations which has arisen since the note was sent last week to the South American mediators outlining the position of the Mexican constitutionalists. It further was reported that the matter of recognizing or rejecting representatives of the constitutional ists as participants in the peace conference now was squarely up to the mediators themselves.

Observers at Niagara Falls reported that General Huerta's representatives had regarded the appearance of Carranza's emissary with a degree of favor, as indicating hope for futuse peace in Mexico, and that they had decided to leave the matter of receiving constitutionalist agents into the conference entirely to the South American envoys. This determination, it was asserted, was reached by the Mexican delegates on the day that Mr. Urquidi, representing Rafael Zubaran, arrived from Washington with the Carranza note. Since that time, it was said, Huerta's agents have not sought to exert any influence over the mediators regarding the proposal to broaden the scope of the conference. That Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann representing the United States, have been urging recognition of Carranze seemed more apparent than ever in Washington tonight.

Late last night a long communication was addressed to the American commissioners from the state department. It was drafted after a conference between President Wilson and Becretary Bryan and was telegraphed in code. It did not reach the American favor, as indicating hope for future

Whether mediation would come to maught in case the South American envoys should determine to reject all proposals for enlarging the scope of the conference so as to include representatives of the Mexican revolutionists, was the uppermost subject of discussion throughout the day in Washington Many believed that the Washington. Many believed that the original proposal for a protocol to be signed by the United States and Huerta's representatives would be adhered to, and that the United States would then await developments, hoping that influence could be brought to bear which would result in a reorgan-Ization of the governmental affairs in Mexico, with friendly participation by constitutionalist leaders after the United States and Huerta had settled their differences. Others thought that the constitutionalists would increase the vigor of their warfare against the Huerta regime, capture the govern-ment at Mexico City, and then protes that there was nothing to mediate.

Other cargoes of war material are commonly understood to be approaching the Mexican coast, some from Japan on the Pacific side and it is rumored that a consignment of arms from Birmingham, England, soon would be on its way to Pexico. All these cargoes are destined for the Huerta government, though it is understood that already extensive transhipments of such material are beginning in the West Indian Islands for 6, the date originally set, to June 25. "Judging from what has been published from day to day, the mediators appear to consider General Carransa and his followers as a negligible quantity, scarcely worthy of attention and who, perforce must agree to whatever conclusion the commission may reach. They do not seem to be aware of the fact that the constitutionalists are conquerors, that they have insugarated and carried almost to successful completion a revolution and speed limit at Hyattsville, N. J.

More than 700 members of the Salvation Army sailed from New York on the Olympic to attend the international that this means the establishment a government of the world. All that prevents the constitution alists from entering Mexico City to-day is the physical obstacle of the destruction of the railroads. With destruction of the railroads. With communication restored, which is being accomplished with rapidity, the army would be in Mexico City in less than a week.

"Yet the constitutionalist leaders point to the deliberations of the commission and the statements of the press as absolutely ignoring this struction. The peace commission eyes goes so far as to propose that the constitutionalists must recognize whatever provisional government that decide to set up and to declare that they must be forced to recognize that government or be crushed. government or be crushed.

"They point out the fact that con-querors are not usually wont to per-mit the conquered to dictate the terms of peace, which is practically what is to be asked of them by the commis-ion.

"Constitutionalists are especially caustic in their comment on the proposal of the commission to take up the agrarian suestion and propose some form of settlement. They declare that this is a purely internal problem and that they will tolerate no outside interference. Indeed this is their attitude with regard to the entire proceedings of the mediation commission. They declare that if let alone they will settle the entire Mexican problem in a few months and in proof of their ability to do this point to what they have already accomplished in the way of driving the tederals from two thirds of the country with the imminent prospect of securing the other third in no great time."
